

Air Line Reservation System

The system enables the customer to search for airline flight on a specified date and choose a flight based on some details like availability. The customer can reserve a flight or cancel his reservation. The system displays all the flight details such as flight number, name, price and duration of journey.

